School Plan Is Rejected by Assessor

TO: The Superintendent and Directors of Hope Public School District 1A:

Replying to your question of whether or not I, as Tax Assessor of Hempstead County, Ark., will cooperate with you in what you are trying to do relative to appraising property for taxation, wish to advise that, not finding any law whereby you have authority to appraise property for taxing purposes and believing in the honesty and integrity of the taxpayers of Hempstead County and that they will make an honest and fair assessment of their property,
I can not, as Tax Assessor of Hempstead County, lend any endorsement to your policy.

With respect to assessing personal property, the taxpayer is supposed to, and in most instances does, swear to the correctness of his or her tax assessment. I can not find it in the law, nor in my conscience, to presume that the taxpayer has committed perjury, or to assume any legal or moral right to refuse to accept the assessment.

The tax assessing machinery of the County is set up by law and makes it the duty of the Tax Assessor to assess taxes against the property of the taxpayers of the County and if such tax assessment should be wrong, with respect to valuation, then and in that event it is peculiarly within the province of the Equalization Board to adjust such assessment, in accordance with what, in their opinion, is fair and right. Therefore, I can not understand why any agency, regardless of how they may be interested in the welfare of the County, has any authority to ascribe to themselves the authority to go into the home of the taxpayer and look under the beds, behind wardrobes, in closets, etc., in an effort to prove that the tax payer is dishonest and cheating
the Government. As for myself, I believe the people of the County are honest and are willing to pay taxes in accordance with what they own.

The following is a true and correct copy of a letter I, as Tax Assessor, received from the Department Assessment Coordination of the Arkansas Public Service Commission:

Mr. Carter Sutton
Hempstead County Assessor
Hope, Arkansas

Dear Mr. Sutton: This is to certify that, since your County has complied with Section 12(c), Act 153 of 1955 as amended in 1959, Hempstead County's 1961 percentage of assessment to the true, full or actual market value is 94.95 per cent (officially 19%)

This is the same as the original certification made to you by this department August 1, 1961.

Yours very truly,

C. JACK CATO
Director, Department
Assessment Coordination of Public Service Commission

With respect to Hope School
District 1A, for the school year 1960-1961, the correct figures of the revenue from the State and Hempstead County, is as follows:
Sheriff & Collector's Office
from County taxes ... $263,958.53
Land Redemptions ... 1,010.70
Personal Delinquent Tax Collector ... 1,803.90
County Total ... $266,773.13
Revenue from State Department of Education (Minimum Foundation Aid & Vocational Aid) 219,576.96
Tuition paid to Hope by other schools ... 18,035.00
State Total ... $287,611.96
Combined total from State and County ... $504,385.09
Assessed Valuation of Hope School
District is ... $8,160,675.00
1961 Assessed valuation of Hope
School District is ... $8,316,305.00
Revenue 35 mills ... $293,870.68
Land redemptions and delinquent personal taxes collected, to be added to this.
Revenue from State Department of Education will probably be as much or more, and the tuition paid by other schools will be about the same.

This, it seems to me, is quite a sum raised in taxes for the schools and, while it is not my duty to try to determine whether the school money is being judiciously handled, it seems to me that the amount of money that is being paid in taxes for the schools, and, evidently, the people thought so when they voted down the proposal to increase the mil-age for school purposes.

In conclusion, I will say that I

Ruling Made on Employing Kin

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The attorney general's office advised Tex-arkana city attorney Willis B.
Smith Jr. today that the acting city treasurer at Texarkana is prohibited from his job by a statute covering relations of public employees to government officials.

Smith had asked for an opinion about two city employees, the acting treasurer, whose mother is an aunt of a city director's wife, and a dispatcher in the fire department, who is the husband of an aunt of a city director's wife.

The attorney general's office cited a law which prohibits employment of persons related by blood or marriage in the third degree to a city official.

The opinion said the dispatcher was not prohibited from his job under the law, but the acting treasurer was.

Neither the dispatcher nor the treasurer was identified in Smith's letter to the attorney general.

Legion Post Hits Goal on Membership

District 12 of the American Legion Auxiliary was the first in the entire state to reach its 100% membership quota, according to the current issue of "Arkansas Legionnaire."

Mrs. Joe Jones, District President, reported that the leading unit was Nelson Hill 427 of Hope, which attained 175% of its quota.

Three units in the district had 100% of the membership quota reached. They were Foreman, De Queen and Texarkana 58. The other units in the district which have almost reached the 100% mark are Ashdown, Bradley, Tex-arkana 452, Stamps and Horatio.

Tiros Weather Eye in Orbit, Working Fine

By HOWARD BENEDICT

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —
The United States put a new weather satellite, Tiros IV, into orbit today, and its cameras and electronic equipment promptly began sending back photographs of the earth's cloud cover.

A 90-foot Thor-Delta rocket, blasting off from this base at 7:44 a. m., put up the 285-pound satellite.

In Washington, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced shortly before 11 a. m. that pictures of cloud cover had been received, and that "indications are that these are good."

A spokesman for the space agency said pictures were received at 9:30 a. m. at the Wallops Island, Va. monitoring station.

Officials of Radio Corp. of America said pictures from the satellite were also received at their Princeton, N. J. station.

A spokesman for NASA said these pictures were made during the satellite's first whirl around the earth. In this initial orbit, he said, the satellite was slightly tilted and the quality of pictures would not be expected to be as good as those received during later orbits.

The job of putting up the satellite went smoothly.

At a news conference later, project official Robert Gray gave the report that all looked well.
He said that radio signals from the rocket indicated all three stages performed normally. He said signals were picked up from the payload by a station in Winkfield, England.

The target of the shot was an orbit path about 400 miles high.
No definite conclusion as to whether orbit was achieved could be made ahead of the completion of the first 100-minute circuit.

Search Widens for Bankrobber

JAY, Okla. (AP) — The search for Richard Alvin Woodring, 39, a convicted bank robber, widened today. He has eluded a posse for two days since breaking out of jail here Tuesday.

Bloodhounds were used in the search Wednesday night and more men were called in today, with officers speculating that a car reported stolen might have been taken by the fugitive.

FBI agents and highway patrolmen joined sheriff's officers in the hunt for Woodring, who was held here on charges of armed robbery, kidnaping and attempted escape and was under bond pending appeal of a 1960 conviction for robbing an Alaskan bank.

His companion in the break, Jerry Bill Hopkins, 20, was caught Tuesday night and was to be taken to prison today to begin serving a two-year escape sentence levied after he pleaded guilty to the charge.

Soil Testing Plans Made

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP) — A U.S. Coast Guard search plane found actress Jayne Mansfield, her husband and a friend on the eastern tip of Rose Island today.

The trio was spotted by a Nassau Development Board plane which notified the Coast Guard.

A chartered fishing boat, the "Blades," picked up the three and left for Nassau.

Their condition was not reported.

The search began Wednesday when the three, Jayne, her husband, Mickey Hargitay, and their Fort Lauderdale, Fla., companion, Jack Drury, failed to return from a day-long water skiing trip.

The U.S. Coast Guard at Miami, Fla., sent a big Albatross amphibious plane at dawn to help Bahamas rescue units and volunteer yachtsmen sweep the seas in the area and scan the nine-mile-long, half-mile-wide island which has no telephones and only two or three seldom-used cottages.

Searchers hoped the missing trio, strong swimmers, made Rose Island.

The capsized boat — which resembled the 16-foot outboard that towed the water skiers out Wednesday noon — was found afloat bottom up a quarter mile off the island at sundown by a fisherman. The steering shaft bracket was broken.

The veteran charter boat Captain Milton Pearce examined it at Nassau and said, "There's no doubt this is the boat they went out with."

Pearce said the 16 foot white outboard craft was the only such boat for hire by its owner, who rented his craft to the waterskiers.

The break in the steering column bracket was fresh and the boat could not have been steered with the fitting broken," Pearce said. I don't know how the break occurred.

Pearce said a gasoline tank which was in the boat when it departed Nassau apparently had drifted away.

I went down to look at it and it looks like their boat," said Carl Livingston of the Bahamas Development Board who watched the water-skiers push off.

Jayne, in a brief swimsuit, and Hargitay, a former Mr. Universe, had skied gaily out of Nassau behind the outboard motor boat driven by Drury.

Photographers pursued the trio by boat for more than a mile and said nothing seemed amiss when the photo boat turned back.

The trio failed to return as planned at 4 p. m. and missed a scheduled news conference at 6
p. m. At 8:30 p. m. Capt. Durward Knowles, chief of the Air-Sea Rescue Unit dispatched three crafts to scour the area which remained calm to slightly choppy.

Accused of Bubble Gum Monopoly

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Brooklyn bubble gum manufacturer was accused today of illegally monopolizing a growing industry — the distribution of picture cards portraying major league baseball stars.

The Federal Trade Commission charged that the manufacturer, Topp's Chewing Gum Inc., had exclusive picture card contracts with all but seven of the 421 major league players.

Alleging a violation of the FTC
Act, the commission said Topp's has created a monopoly contrary to the public policy of the United States and in detriment of free and open competition in the bubble gum and picture card industries.

The complaint said that collecting baseball picture cards is an increasingly popular hobby with young boys and that they will only buy bubble gum which is packaged with a baseball card.

Executive Privilege Invoked by Kennedy to Protect Censors

U. S., Britain Seek Meet of Ministers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and Britain announced today agreement on Christmas Island in the Pacific as a site for U.S. nuclear atmospheric test programs. They also called for an East-West foreign ministers meeting on disarmament.

The proposal for a foreign ministers meeting was made by President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan to Soviet Premier Khrushchev.

A joint U.S.-British statement said that foreign ministers of the three powers should meet in advance of the proposed 18-nation disarmament conference opening at Geneva March 14 and should also be ready to participate personally in the negotiations.

The aim of this foreign ministers effort would be to generate a "supreme effort" to bring the nuclear arms race under control, the joint statement said.

On the military side the two Western governments declared that the existing state of nuclear development would "justify the West in making such further series of nuclear tests as may be necessary for purely military reasons."

An important factor in the present state of nuclear development the statement said, is the "recent massive Soviet tests."

"The United States and United Kingdom governments" the statement then said, "have therefore decided that preparations should be made in various places and as part of these the United Kingdom government are making available to the United States government the facilities at Christmas Island."

The island, which is a huge atoll, lies more than 1,000 miles south of Hawaii. It is in a lonely section of the Pacific.

the shoulder.

Vivian Flentory, 15, is in a local hospital for treatment. She is not considered in serious condition.

Deputy Sheriff Herbert Griffin
and State Police Sgt. Scrub Mos-tor said West was showing off the foreign made gun to the girl and it went off. Although the bullet embedded in her shoulder she was in critical condition. They charged West with carrying a concealed weapon.

Thurmond did not appeal Stennis' ruling immediately to the subcommittee membership, a course which would have been open to him.

Secretary of Defense Robert S.
McNamara read to the subcommittee a letter from the President invoking the executive privilege and directing Defense Department personnel from top to bottom not to disclose the information about any individual changes in texts.

The President held it would not be "in the public interest" to permit the subcommittee to question the censors, and on this basis Stennis sustained the chief executive's right to invoke executive privilege.

Since the days of George Washington, Stennis said, neither the courts nor the Congress ever has overridden plans of executive privilege by a president under the constitutional system of checks and balances which, he said, prevents one branch of government
"from imposing its will on the others."

Over objections from Thurmond that the talking should be done by Willis D. Lawrence, chief Pentagon censor who was on the stand, McNamara interrupted the questioning to read the presidential letter.

Previously Stennis had ordered Lawrence to answer a question about individual censorship actions.

The specific question was:

testimony prepared by Army Lt.
Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, research
chief, for a House Space Com-

270 Bodies Found in German Mine

By JOHN FIEHN

SAARBRUECKEN, Germany (AP)—The Saar Valley counted 270 dead and 83 seriously injured today in Germany's second worst coal mining disaster.

Up to 70 miners are believed still missing.

The bodies of miners—burned, gassed or crushed under tons of coal and rock—were being extricated by rescue teams more than 30 hours after a massive fire-damp explosion in Luisenthal mine near here Wednesday.

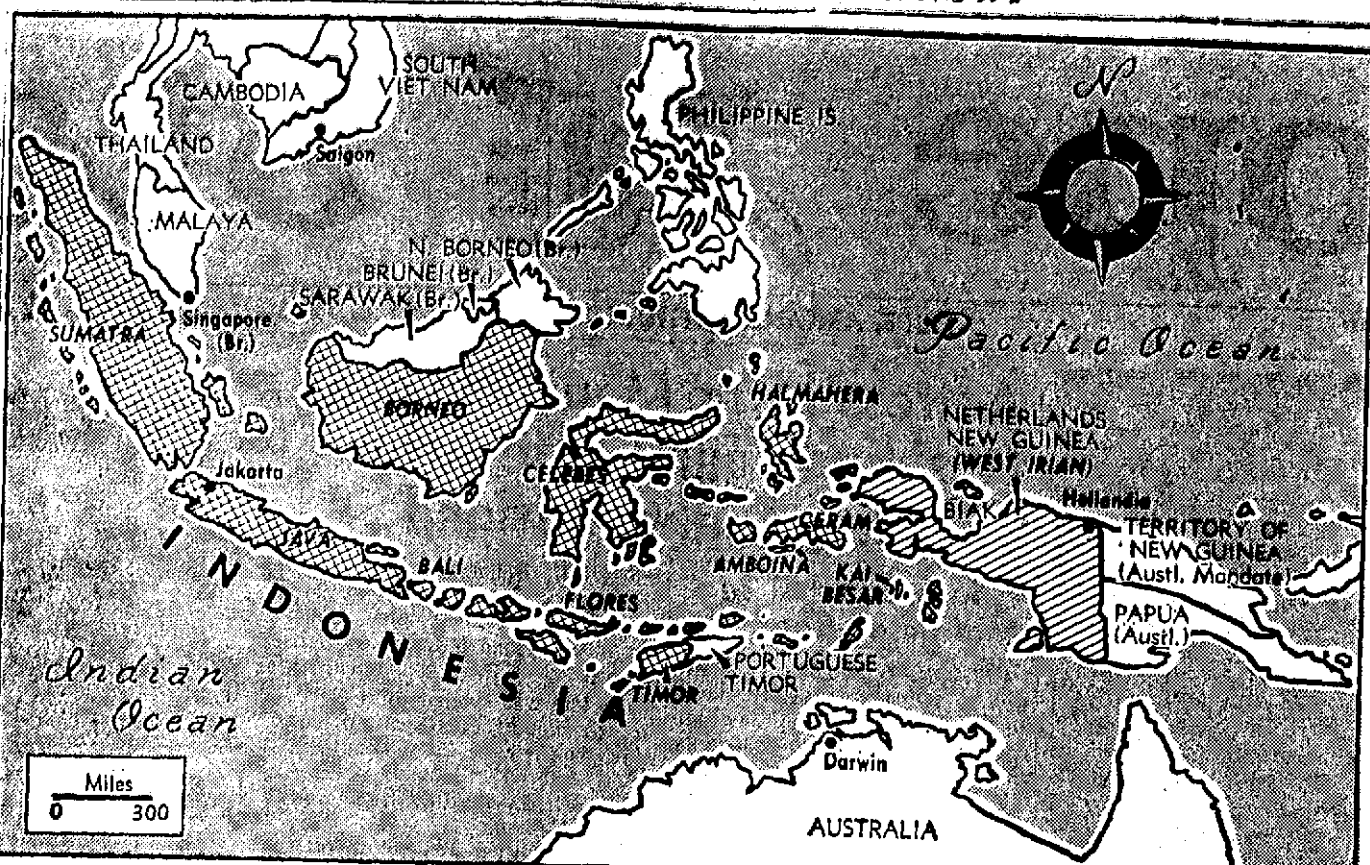

The death toll reached 270 when officials of the Saar State Mining Office said 200 bodies had been brought to the surface and two had died in hospital.

The number still buried in the caved-in debris of the mine's fourth level 1,800 feet underground was uncertain. One report said that as many as 70 miners might still be underground.

Another report said that the number could be less than 10.

Many of the rescuers were among the 200 miners who escaped when a sheet of flame shot through the main shaft and set off a terrific blast that sent miners flying and brought tunnel walls and ceilings crashing down 1,800 feet below the surface.

Studebaker, UAW Come to Terms

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Studebaker-Packard Corp. and the United Auto Workers came to terms early today on a new contract aimed at putting 6,200 striking employees back on the job next Monday.

UAW President Walter P. Reuther said the agreement to end a six-week walkout at the firm's plant in South Bend, Ind., will be put before the workers for a ratification vote over the weekend.

Terms of the settlement were not revealed. Reuther said both sides had agreed it would be "the better part of wisdom to withhold the details for direct presentation" to members of UAW Local 5 in South Bend.

Reuther and the company president, Sherwood H. Eghert, wound up a marathon negotiating session with a joint statement saying: "Upon ratification of the agreement, it is hoped that normal operations may be resumed on Monday."

The union and management chiefs said they had reached agreement "on all the issues in dispute."

A key issue was a company bid to cut the amount of wash-up time granted employees. Other strike issues had included shift premiums, vacation computation and representation and management rights.

Federal mediators had been working since early November to bring settlement of the deadlock. The old contract expired Nov. 30, but was extended on a day-to-day basis until Jan. 2, when the workers walked off their jobs.

to permit release of the information, saying he would not permit "harassment" of individual citizens.

Today he followed up with the written directive.

Kennedy said he and McNamara could not "agree to a harassment of individuals who are only carrying out the policies dictated by their superiors."

"The statement drew sparks from Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., a member of the special Senate subcommittee. Its inquiry was prompted by Thurmond's charge that military men who had tried to speak out against communism had been "muzzled."

Thurmond issued a statement calling the President's words "a reflection" on the presidency and Congress. The senator announced he would fight any claim of executive privilege to withhold testimony. He also called it equivalent to invoking the Fifth Amendment protection against compulsory self incrimination.

Pentagon speeches which touch on foreign policy require clearance from both Pentagon and State Department censors.

A few hours before Kennedy's news conference, the subcommittee members scheduled a hearing today to challenge McNamara's order. The senators voted unanimously to demand answers from any witness who cites only McNamara's orders as a basis for refusing to testify.

NASSAU, Bahamas (AP)—Actress Jayne Mansfield, her muscular husband and a companion returned safely to Nassau today with a story of a harrowing experience at sea and a night on a tiny coral atoll.

Shivering and weeping, the buxom blonde, 28, who skied gaily out of Nassau Wednesday, was taken to a hospital for treatment of shock, exposure and coral rock cuts.

Mickey Hargitay, 32, her weight-lifting husband, related a tale of an overturned boat, a fainting and panicking Jayne, and a night perched on the tip of a coral rock just jutting above high tide.

Miss Mansfield, Hargitay, and a Florida friend were found safe this morning on a beach at Rose Island after a night long search touched off when they failed to return from the water ski trip.

Hargitay was taken to the hospital for treatment of a cut leg. He was released after treatment.

Hotel publicist Jack Drury of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., the third member of the party, was uninjured.

The group returned to Nassau aboard the 65-foot charter yacht "Blades," which picked them off the beach of isolated Rose Island after a plane spotted them.

Jayne and Mickey were on skis and Drury piloted the 17-foot white-hulled outboard boat they had rented. Photographers followed them for about a mile, then turned back.

Hargitay said the party continued on until they got about a mile and a half from Rose Island, some five miles from Nassau.

Jayne fell off her skis, he said. He tried to help and fell off himself. She complained of a hurt leg. Drury, in the boat, said he thought he saw sharks and called a warning. Jayne panicked, Har-

Japs Cheer, Jeer Visiting Kennedys

By CONRAD FINK

OSAKA, Japan (AP)—Robert F. Kennedy took his meet-the-people campaign to the Japanese countryside today, waving and smiling in good humor both at the thousands who cheered him and the few hundred mustered by the Communists to jeer him.

Aren't they a friendly people?" the U.S. attorney general said to a newsman several times during the day as farmers, housewives, workers and children mobbed him enthusiastically.

His enthusiasm was undampened by several leftist demonstrations that dogged his trail as he criss-crossed the countryside from Kyoto to Osaka before boarding a plane for Tokyo.

He ran into one group of 300 shouting Communists outside a textile mill in Kyoto. Waving banners and shouting "Kennedy go home," the demonstrators surged toward the Kennedy bus, but police swiftly moved in and pushed them back.

Showing his usual calm, the attorney general got off the bus and waved to the demonstrators. In-furiated, they closed ranks across the street and kept up their chants as Kennedy and his wife, Ethel, and U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer and his Japanese-born wife spent an hour touring the mill.

On leaving, Kennedy again smiled and waved as the bus pulled away. At this, the demonstrators sang the Communist Internationale.

About 150 Communists jeered and booed Kennedy and Reischauer as they boarded the plane for Tokyo at the Osaka Airport. Police were out in force and no demonstrator got within hundreds of yards of the Kennedy party.

Although placid in the face of demonstrators, Kennedy showed a flash of temper for the second time publicly in Japan at a luncheon given him by leading businessmen of the Kyoto area.

After hearing criticism of U.S. aid policies and what some called a fumbling American foreign policy, President Kennedy's younger brother retorted heatedly.

"I just want you to understand that the United States has established quite a record in the world," he said. "We have not arrived at the vision we have today, culturally, scientifically and economically, just by luck."

"We are not without fault," Kennedy added. "But we went into World War II against our will and we do not seek now to dominate other nations. Other nations have suffered much, but many of us have suffered personally."

He cited Communist aggressions

Faubus' Paper Tells of Donation

HUNTSVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Gov. Orval E. Faubus' newspaper announced today that a St. Louis man has donated 320 acres of Madison County land for a state park.

The donor is Roscoe V. Hobbs, a native of Madison County and now a St. Louis businessman.

The land is the Withrow Spring area on Highway 23 near the crossing of War Eagle River and about five miles north of Huntsville.

If the land is not used as a park, it will revert to the Hobbs family. A news story about the donation was carried in today's issue of the weekly Madison County Record, which Faubus owns.

The announcement was credited and said, "When we all sit around and analyze what is wrong with those Yankees, I hope we can consider the general picture."

Camden Picks City Manager

CAMDEN, Ark. (AP)—George A. Lewis, Shumaker Naval Armament Depot executive, has been named Camden city manager.

He succeeds Add Ellyson, who recently resigned to accept a post as Texarkana city manager.

Lewis has lived in Camden for the past 10 years.

to Faubus and to his son, Madison County Rep. Farrell E. Faubus, Jr. A deed transferring the land to the state has been filed at the courthouse here.

The state Publicity and Parks Commission probably will take formal action on the gift at its next meeting Feb. 16.

The Boyd saga is one of the great stories of show business. It started in the movie business in 1919 by lying to Cecil B. De Mille's secretary that he had an appointment with the great man. He was a De Mille leading man in the '20s, then in the '30s starred in a routine series of horse operatics as Hopalong Cassidy.

Hoppy appeared to have faded in the '40s, but Boyd quietly bought up TV rights to the series. He went on TV in 1948 and for six or seven years was a national sensation.

"There had been nothing like it," he recalled. "It got to the point that I called together all my people and said we had to cut down."

Sex May Be Losing at Box Office

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Is sex losing its box office appeal? There are some signs that it is. Doom-criers who believe that America is heading for the fate of decadent Babylon, Sodom and Gomorrah may now take heart. There seems to be a definite slump in the sex market. Moralists cling to the theory that anyone can get rich quick by making a dirty film or writing a dirty book. Well, it just ain't so. Its bedrock tradition of puritanism still has a strong hold on America. It is easier to make a fast buck in this country selling a new detergent, filter cigarette, or headache cure than in the leering portrayal of sex.

You can probably even make more money by starting a one-day diaper laundering service. It is true that the country has been flooded with lurid-covered paperback novels dealing with the racier aspects of sex, as well as foreign and homemade movies that bring a blush to the cheeks of old maid censors.

But their market is still limited. The golden harvest is reaped by writers and producers who deal in the wholesome themes that have always appealed most to the hopeful and normal nature of the majority of mankind—adventure, religion, family life, comedy and romantic love.

Here are a few proofs: A headline in the anniversary edition of Variety, the bible of show business, reads: "Sex not Whammo in 1961."

The six biggest-drawing films of last year were: "Guns of Navarone," "Exodus," "Parent Trap," "Absent-minded Professor," "Alamo," and "Swiss Family Robinson."

The top foreign import of 1961, "La Dolce Vita," criticized widely for its suggestive scenes of society orgies in modern Rome, placed 12th in box office appeal.

Variety in the same issue listed the top cinema box office hits of all time. Here they are: "Birth of a Nation," "Come with the Wind," "Ben-Hur," "10 Commandments," "Around the World in 80 Days," "The Robe," "South Pacific," "Bridge on the River Kwai," "Greatest Show on Earth," "Guns of Navarone," "This is Cinerama," and "From Here to Eternity."

Six of these dozen films deal with either historical or religious themes. Only the 12th, "From Here to Eternity," had scenes of questionable taste even for a child's eyes.

Now let's take a look at the literary scene. The two fiction books that have been longest on the best seller list of the New York Times are "To Kill a Mocking Bird," by Harper Lee, 79 weeks; and "The Grapes of Wrath," by John Steinbeck, 45 weeks.

The first is a picture of life in a small Southern town as seen by a child; the second is a novel about Michelangelo, the artist.

Fantastic Times Says Bill Boyd

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer
PALM DESERT, Calif. (AP)—"Those were fantastic, unbelievable times," said Bill Boyd of his reign as TV's first great idol, Hopalong Cassidy. "But I knew they couldn't last."

This was a relaxed, contented Bill Boyd, living the quiet life with his beautiful wife, the former actress Grace Bradley. They spend half their year at a compact, comfortable home in this desert resort, the other half in a huge trailer by the ocean at Dana Point, Calif.

"We don't even have any help," Bill explained. "We found it bothered us to have other people around. After spending our lives in a crowd for so many years, we love just being alone."

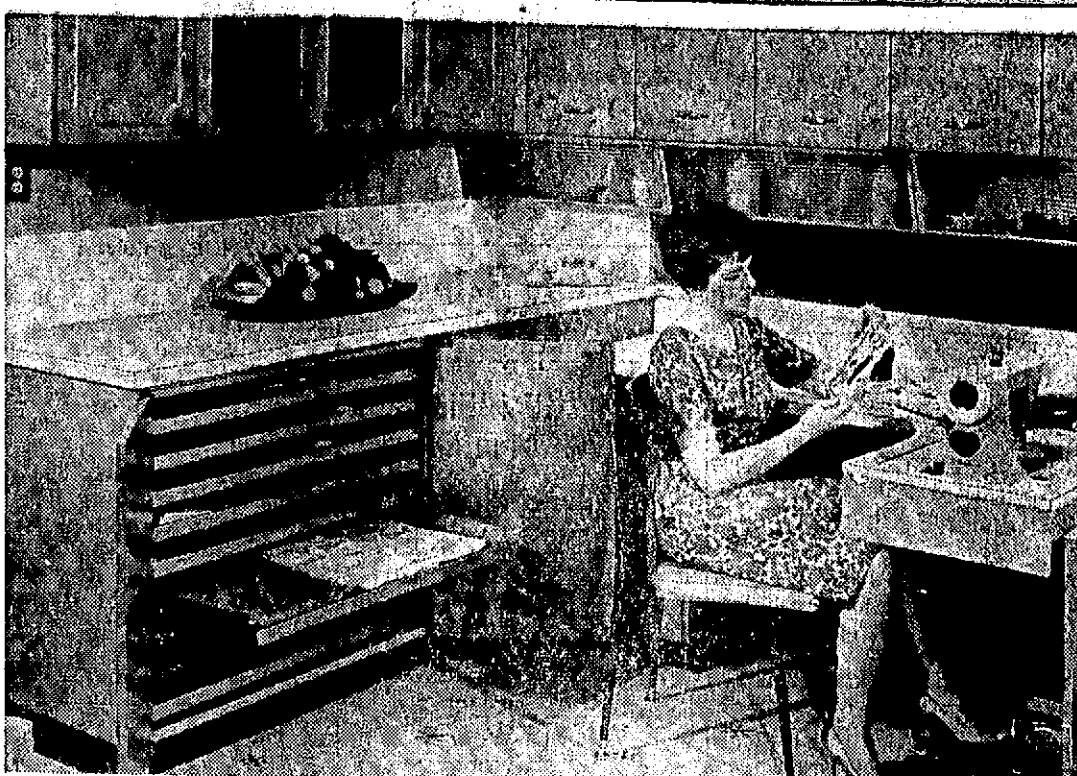

The Boyd saga is one of the great stories of show business. It started in the movie business in 1919 by lying to Cecil B. De Mille's secretary that he had an appointment with the great man. He was a De Mille leading man in the '20s, then in the '30s starred in a routine series of horse operatics as Hopalong Cassidy.

Hoppy appeared to have faded in the '40s, but Boyd quietly bought up TV rights to the series. He went on TV in 1948 and for six or seven years was a national sensation.

"There had been nothing like it," he recalled. "It got to the point that I called together all my people and said we had to cut down."

"I was on almost every TV channel. I had been on the cover of every magazine. I was in comic books and comic strips. I was on records. My merchandising was in all the stores. I told people we had 94 per cent saturation, and that was too much. When you get up that high, there's only one place you can go, and that's down."

It was Davy Crockett who brought the break. When the Hoppy merchandise started to slide, manufacturers got off the bandwagon and put their dough into the coon-skin cap craze, said Boyd—and they lost a fortune.

Base cabinets complement kitchen's wall cabinets. Sewing machine is on swing-up base; plastic counter top doubles as a cutting table. Maple-veneered steel cabinet, left, has base units having sliding, translucent doors.

Husband's Coldness to Stepchildren Chilling Her Marriage

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Dear Helen: I'm struggling to do right by the husband of my second marriage and the children of my first. I love them all but they don't love each other—at least my husband doesn't.

He's younger than I and this is his first marriage so he can't adjust easily. It isn't that he lacks affection. I and the baby I had by him get plenty of love and kisses. But his two little stepchildren, seven and five, are left out in the cold. The only time he ever speaks to them is to correct them, yet they seldom do wrong and long to be loved.

Neither remember their own father as they were very young when I divorced. I'm afraid they will resent their stepfather as much as he resents them. He's a good husband otherwise and I do so want this marriage to last.

To complicate the situation, I'm expecting our second child in May. How can I make him show a little love for two of the dearest children you ever saw?—Desperate Mother

Dear Desperate: Your husband doesn't actually resent your children, he resents the fact that there has ever been any other man in your life. When he berates them, he is subconsciously berating their father. In other words, he is jealous.

Since jealousy is insecurity, this means he fears that in your heart, your ex-husband still comes first, especially when you show your love for children by that marriage.

Of course this is adolescent reasoning but by his very actions, your second husband betrays his immaturity. Therefore you must deal with him as you would a child. Reassure him. Discuss your first marriage frankly. Give him the reasons for divorcing. Let there be no unanswered questions in his heart. Encourage your two youngsters to give little presents of their own making and, above all, take him into their lives. You'll have to do the steering behind the scenes but that comes naturally to a woman.

Dear Helen: Every now and then I read a wail in your column from some worried mother who had to get married and fears the consequences if the child ever learns the truth. Why tell it?—Mrs. D. Campbell, Calif.

Dear Mrs. D.: There is always the lurking danger of the child eventually hearing a garbled version from a gossip. How much better that it learn the truth, however stark, from the mother. If the child has always been made to feel loved and wanted, there will be no real problem.

Dear Helen: I'm being blamed for damaging the car of some girl friends. It was a couple of boys, not me, who flattened those tires. One of them is my boy friend. This makes it awkward. I want to clear this up without hurting anybody. But how?—Puzzled

Dear Puzzled: The boys involved should clear your name. Tell them so. If they don't, speak up! Condoning cowardice is mistaken kindness. Your boy friend's first thought should be for you, not himself. Chuck him if it isn't.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine care of this newspaper. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Helpful leaflets available. Write for "Stepchildren."

Religion and Mr. Abraham Lincoln

By JULES LOH
AP Staff Writer

In 1846 there was a religious issue in an election campaign. Elderly claimed that the candidate for the House of Representatives from Springfield, Ill.—Abraham Lincoln—was "an infidel."

"That I am not a member of any Christian church is true," replied Abe, honestly, "but I have never denied the truth of the Scriptures; and I have never spoken with intentional disrespect of religion in general or of any denomination of Christians in particular."

Lincoln won the election. But three years earlier he had been a different story. He had tried for a Whig party nomination without success, and laid at least part of the blame to religious intolerance.

Much has been written about Lincoln's religious beliefs, and as his birthday rolls around each year a popular pastime in some quarters is to try to figure out what denomination he belonged to.

His own words, however, provide the best insight regarding the innermost feelings of this deeply religious man.

He himself admitted to being superstitious. In 1841 he wrote to his friend, Joshua F. Speed of Louisville, Ky., "I was always superstitious. I believe God made me one of the instruments for bringing your (wife) and you together, which union I have no doubt he foreordained."

But Lincoln also had a strong reliance on prayer: "I went to my room and got down on my knees in prayer," he said shortly after the battle of Gettysburg. "Never before had I prayed with as much earnestness. I felt that I must put all my trust in Almighty God.... I prayed that he would not let the nation perish."

And a profound faith in divine providence: "If, after endeavoring to do my best in the light which (God) affords me, I find my efforts fail," he wrote in 1862, "I must believe that for some purpose unknown to me He wills it otherwise."

"Perhaps the most revealing declaration of Lincoln's religious attitude was summed up in the latter part of his life when he said: "I have never united myself to any church because I have found difficulty in giving my assent... to the long complicated statements of Christian doctrine which characterize their articles of belief."

"When any church will inscribe over its altar, as its sole qualification for membership, the Master's condensed statement of the substance of both law and gospel, 'Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind, and thy neighbor as thyself' that church will I join with all my heart and with all my soul."

Hugh O'Brian Kisses the Girl at Last

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) - Hugh O'Brian, after seven long years of fast draws and galloping hooves on TV, finally has made it: He gets to kiss a girl for the first time on camera.

This momentous occasion will occur, and live, too, Sunday night when the former marshal Wyatt Earp plays the Ivy-League-suited hero in a TV adaptation of "Spellbound" on NBC's "Theatre 62."

And the girl, he is noted, is red-haired, gorgeous Maureen O'Hara.

"I never even kissed my horse before," said O'Brian mournfully. "I did get to kiss a girl once in a 'Wyatt Earp' episode, but the director cut it out after he'd seen it. He said that they didn't kiss that way in those days. Anyway, this one with Maureen will be a modern, late-evening type kiss."

And in TV, the way a modern, late-evening type kiss is routinely handled is to show the clinch and then move the camera slowly and suggestively to a candle burning out or a fireplace with dying embers.

All sorts of network changes of programs are in the works, some in the immediate future to try to prop up sagging ratings and even more drastic ones next season.

CBS will switch its old Robert Young show and its new Robert Young show next Monday. Viewers will find on that evening that re-runs of "Father Knows Best" have been substituted for "Window on Main Street." And "Window" will pop up on a Wednesday night spot formerly occupied by the repeat shows.

"Window on Main Street," generally panned by the critics, proved an expensive disappointment. It probably would have been eliminated entirely, except that the network has a contract for a season's worth of shows.

The network, in addition, is planning a shake-up of the nation's viewing habits next season. For one, it expects to pull "Perry Mason" out of its Saturday night lineup and drop it into Thursday night at 8.

And that's just the beginning of a huge reshuffling.

JFK Against Parochial School Aid

By WHITNEY SHOEMAKER

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Kennedy is set to throw all his energy into battle for federal aid to public schools - but not parochial schools.

The President told a news conference Wednesday he thinks his three-year, $2.1 billion program for public school construction and teachers' salaries is so urgent "I will do everything I can to have Congress take favorable action on this subject this year."

On other issues, the President said: "He would not hesitate to resume nuclear tests in the atmosphere if he finds them essential."

There is a need under any future nuclear test ban treaty with the Soviets for measures not only to prevent sneak tests but also to prevent a recurrence of secret preparations for testing. This last point, in effect, added a new condition for a treaty with the Soviets.

He feels the United States must keep on working toward a general disarmament treaty backed by effective controls.

He stands squarely behind Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara's refusal before Senate investigators to link individual Pentagon censors with specific changes made in speeches by uniformed officers.

The question of school aid came up when a reporter noted that Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York had said the administration proposal would doom the parochial school system. Kennedy, a Roman Catholic, asserted there had been no change in his position - that across-the-board aid to church schools is unconstitutional. And it won't change unless the Supreme Court rules otherwise, on the issue, he added.

Urges No Sex Tag on Paycheck

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) - "Don't put a sex tag on that pay check," a high government official urges businessmen.

"If a man and a woman do identical work they should receive the same pay."

The speaker was Esther Peterson, assistant secretary of labor. She was in Atlanta Wednesday for a meeting with government and labor officials to discuss the employment situation.

U. S. to Go Ahead With Nuclear Tests

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Kennedy has indicated he will order a go-ahead by the end of this month for resumed U.S. nuclear testing in the atmosphere over the central Pacific.

An announcement is expected today on agreement between the United States and Britain for the use of Christmas Island, more than a thousand miles south of Hawaii, as a test site.

At his news conference Wednesday the President in effect added a new condition for any future test ban treaty with the Soviet Union - measures to prevent secret preparations for testing. This would be in addition to measures to prevent sneak tests.

Kennedy said that in view of the "secretly prepared and massive series of 40 to 50 tests conducted by the Soviet Union last fall," final studies on resumed U.S. air tests should be completed "within the month." His decision on testing then will be made.

Pointing out that he already has initiated preparations for testing, Kennedy declared: "I shall not hesitate to order the tests themselves if it is decided that they are necessary to maintain the effective deterrent strength of the United States."

He repeatedly emphasized he has not reached a final decision. But the weight of his comments indicated his trend of thinking is along the line that further U.S. testing will be shown to be necessary when studies, involving the State and Defense Departments, the Atomic Energy Commission, the Central Intelligence Agency and the White House staff, are completed.

THE STORY: Hilda Thorne's fears increase in the brownstone mansion when she discovered that someone deliberately extinguished the fire in the fireplace in the room of her 7-year-old son.

Chapter 4

The summons for Hilda to talk to her uncle-in-law came early the next morning, when she and Addie had just finished breakfast before the fire in her room.

She was led into a room that was both a lesser office and an antechamber. It was furnished with several plain waiting chairs, a clerk's high, slanting desk and wooden stool, and a flat desk with a small arm-chair.

On the clerk's stool, a tall, thin man was bent over a ledger. When Hilda came in, he squinted at her through thick glasses. He was young, but Hilda noticed his shoulders were already humped, and he was not only pale and unhealthy looking, but rather disagreeably ugly. The man who had admitted her murmured that this was Mr. Midgley, the bookkeeper. When Hilda nodded politely, he merely stared.

The other man introduced himself as Fenton, Mr. Russell's secretary. He was small, moved with energetic jerks, and had a sideways smile that reminded Hilda of Mr. Dickens' Uriah Heep. His dry hands rustled, as he rubbed them together, bowing her with overdone courtesy, into the inner chamber.

George Russell only half rose from his chair, as he muttered something she took to be a good morning. The soft click of the door behind her indicated that Mr. Fenton had left them alone.

To hide a nervous smile, she glanced around the room. It was furnished more in the manner of a study than an office. Her uncle sat in a comfortable leather chair by the fire. There was no desk, only a small writing table, looking rather neglected. On one wall, a large, glass-enclosed cabinet contained a wide assortment of curios, including coins, miniatures, several mounted wild birds and, of all things, an antique tea chest. Beside the cabinet, Hilda noticed a strange-looking box, fastened to the wall.

"Telegraph," George Russell said so suddenly that Hilda jumped. "Call box. Turn knob, boy comes. Handy."

"Yes, I'm sure it is."

"Sit down." He indicated a small, straight chair on the other side of the fire. While she was still arranging her skirt he cleared his throat and spoke again.

"Main thing is," he began again, "Jenny's a big responsibility. Must be careful." He turned his eyes on Hilda, and it occurred to her that he was trying to convey more than he felt he could say.

"Big responsibility," he repeated. "Very rich, y'know. Look out and tomorrow," Kennedy said, "but we must consider the future too."

At another point he spoke of the risk to the U.S. nuclear power position and the possibility of some new series of Soviet tests. The implication that Kennedy is moving steadily toward an order for air tests was borne out privately by well-informed officials. They said this is now the trend of thinking in the administration generally.

The State Department and leaders of the newly created disarmament agency are said to have taken the position that if U.S. security requirements are such as to make testing of weapons desirable the President should make the decision that way.

Kansas Driving for 5th Straight Big Eight Title

By JIM HACKLEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Mike Wroblewski has taken over a starring role for Kansas State after two seasons as understudy, and he's proving a resounding success in the Wildcats' drive for a fifth straight Big Eight basketball championship.

Wednesday night the 6-foot-8 senior equaled the conference scoring record by pouring in 46 points, just over half Kansas State's total in a 91-72 romp over Kansas.

While the nationally fourth-ranked Wildcats were winning with ease, the two other rated teams in action were being toppled. Villanova capped sixth-ranked Duquesne 82-61 and Toledo surprised eighth-ranked Bowling Green 70-50.

Wroblewski, a clever jump shooter from South Bend, Indiana, moved in as a Wildcat first stringer this season after playing two varsity years in the shadow of Ced Price and compiling a 6.7-point scoring average.

Tex Winter's Kansas State club, 16-2 over-all, suffered their lone conference loss at Colorado Jan. 6 and trail the Buffaloes in the standings, 7-0 to 6-1.

Hobie White, Wally Jones and George Leftwich alternated as chief gunners for Villanova (16-4) as the Wildcats beat Duquesne (16-3) for the second time in three games this season. The Wildcats took charge midway in the opening half and held command the rest of the way. In the opener of the doubleheader at the Philadelphia Palestra, St. Joseph's (Pa.) drew away in the final 10 minutes and trimmed Georgetown (D.C.) 81-70.

Toledo broke in front early and stayed there in its upset of Bowling Green 115-27, pinning the first league loss of the season on the Mid-American Conference leaders. Larry Jones' 26 points led the Rockets in their home-court victory.

Loyola of Chicago, fast becoming recognized as one of the Midwest's top independents, pushed its record to 15-2 by running off from Western Michigan 102-79. DePaul outlasted Louisville in triple overtime 79-78 on key points by M. C. Thompson and Jesse Nash.

John Speaks netted 30 points and led repeated rallies for North Carolina State's Wolfpack in an 89-68 Atlantic Coast Conference victory at Virginia. Richmond ran up eight straight points in overtime and tripped VMI 82-81 in their Southern Conference game. St. Mary's of California took over first place in the West Coast Athletic Conference from Los Angeles Loyola, shading the Lions 72-71.

Holy Cross bombed Seton Hall 111-84. West Virginia staved off a Pitt drive in the closing minutes and beat the Panthers 80-76.

Other results — Navy 70, Penn Military 40; Army 70, Colgate 63; LaSalle 91, Bucknell 78; Rutgers 102, Muhlenberg 83; Eastern Kentucky 44, Tennessee Tech 72; Iowa State 72, Oklahoma 66; Ohio University 87, Morehead 73; Air Force 62, New Mexico 56.

Jonesboro Golf Meet Is Set

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — The J. W. Buzick golf tournament will be held May 25 through 27 at the Jonesboro country club.

The pre-am event, which has offered total prizes of $2,000, will be held Thursday and Friday, May 24-25. The Buzick amateur tournament will be held on all three days.

Gene Frase of Pine Bluff and Kenny Lanning of Rolla, Mo., are defending champions of the pre-am event. Jim Parkin of Poplar Bluff, Mo., is defending amateur champion.

It is figured that you can live within 5,500 yards of a 100-megaton bomb with a proper nuclear shelter.

DIAMOND IN THE ROUGH—The Yankees face the prospect of opening the season without their All-Star shortstop, Tony Kubek, who will be in the Army for at least part of the grind. Ralph Houk ponders a problem less fortunate managers would be pleased to attempt to solve. The New York skipper may shift Cleo Boyer from third base to shortstop. With Kubek gone, he still has five players available for the left side of the infield.

Gentile Is Awarded by the Orioles

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

While Roger Maris was producing his 61 home runs last season, Jim Gentile's heroics for Baltimore didn't exactly go unnoticed by the Orioles' front office.

The slugging first baseman received a 100 per cent salary hike when he signed his 1962 contract Wednesday calling for $30,000. Gentile's pact a year ago was for $15,000.

The 27-year-old Gentile drove in 141 runs last season and belted 46 home runs—five of them grand slammers. He placed third in the balloting for the American League's most valuable player award behind Maris and Mickey Mantle of the Yankees.

Other players signed Wednesday included: pitchers Frank Baumann, Cal McLish and Mike Degerick and catcher Sherm Lollar of the Chicago White Sox; pitcher Ken Hunt and outfielder Joe Gaines of the Cincinnati Reds; Phil Ortega and Jack Smith, first baseman Tim Harkness, infielders Ken McMullen and Dick Tracowski and outfielder Dick Smith of the Los Angeles Dodgers; infielder Leo Burke, outfielder Ken Walders and pitcher Don Ferrarese of the Philadelphia Phils; pitcher Jim Kaat of the Minnesota Twins.

Also pitcher Bill Stafford and outfielder Bob Cerv of the New York Yankees; pitcher Sherman Jones and first baseman Ed Bou-

Paroles for 62 Recommended

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Paroles for 62 convicts were recommended Wednesday by the state Pardon and Parole Board along with executive clemency for three others.

The board had 86 parole requests under consideration directed W. P. Ball said.

Researchers predict that more than three million single-family homes in the U. S. will have central air conditioning by 1966.

Kentucky Derby Picture Clears Some

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Kentucky Derby picture became a little clearer today in the wake of Sir Gaylord's triumph in Hialeah's seven-furlong Bahamas Stakes.

The Bahamas, decided before a whopping crowd of 23,941 Wednesday, marked the first defeat for Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan — who had won eight straight — and it convinced horsemen that Sir Gaylord, the winner, and Crimson Satan, the 1961 champion 2-year-old, will be better at derby distances.

Ridan, who had never gone more than 6½ furlongs before the Bahamas, ran out of steam in the stretch and Sir Gaylord whirled past him to win by 2½ lengths, with Crimson Satan third, 3½ lengths farther back.

Sir Gaylord, son of Turn-to, earned $190,410 in 14 starts last year. His Bahamas win was worth $19,727.50 to Meadow Stable.

Snead Beats a Field of Women

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Sam Snead, the lone male competitor, defeated a field of women golf pros to win the Royal Poinciana Invitational Tournament, a par-3 course affair.

Snead, pro at Boca Raton, was two down to Ruth Jensen of Seattle going into Wednesday's fourth round windup of the 72-hole tournament he lost by two strokes last year.

Miss Jensen surrendered her advantage when she bogeyed No. 2, where Snead scored a birdie. Miss Jensen ultimately dropped out of contention, finishing with a 65 for 221 and fifth place.

Snead had a 53 for 211. Mickey Wright of Dallas, Tex., was second with a 56 and 216. Marilyn Smith and Muriel Lindstrom tied for third with 219s.

Snead collected $1,500 for his victory. The 14 women pros had agreed to share their cut of the purse equally and each got $321.

Plant Blast at Manila Injures 4

MANILA, Ark. (AP) — Four persons were injured, none seriously, when an explosion and fire ripped through the Razorback Method Inc., plant here Wednesday, causing damage estimated at $100,000.

The plant which produced chemically-treated glass cloth used to cover airplane exteriors, was partially insured.

Injured in the blast were Sam Maere, one of the firm's co-owners, Lee Richardson, an assistant, and two women employees, Maxine Wadley and Evelyn Wagner. All were taken to a nearby Blytheville hospital for observation.

A light airplane was destroyed in addition to the concrete and steel metal building. Co-owner Paul Lloyd said the most serious loss was the company's patented cloth processing machine which was built and perfected by Lloyd and Maere. It was designed to coat 250 yards of raw glass cloth in two and one-half minutes. He said six men working eight hours were required to treat the cloth by hand. The machine was reported to be the only one of its kind.

He said that the process had been approved by the U.S. Air Force and that military specifications were being drawn up at Middletown, Pa.

Lloyd attributed the explosion to a chemical reaction between the coating liquid and an unknown solution that had stained some of the cloth being treated.

The fire and subsequent smaller explosions were brought under control in about two hours by firemen from Manila, Leachville and the Blytheville Air Force Base.

This Man Is Very Much Alive

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — The Social Security Administration contends Fred F. Ross is dead, but it ain't so says the 72-year-old Enola justice of the peace.

Ross, a retired blacksmith, along with his wife, has been drawing Social Security benefits since his retirement seven years ago.

On Jan. 1 this year, Mrs. Ross received a check for $252.50 from the federal agency along with a notation that $198 was for burial benefits for her husband and $54.50 was her increase as a widow.

Ross, of course, received nothing.

The Rosses promptly returned the check and along came a second $54.50 check for the "widow."

Browns, Davis Sign Contract

NEW YORK (AP) — The Cleveland Browns, while signing Heisman Trophy winner Ernie Davis to an $80,000, three-year contract, promised to assist him in finding off-season employment that might result in a permanent career.

Today, the great Syracuse halfback is scheduled to start three days of tests by 18 psychologists at the New York University testing and advisement center.

Object? To find the off-field field Davis is best suited for.

State Bennett Laws Hit by NAACP

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The constitutionality of the four so-called Bennett laws was attacked Wednesday in a brief filed with the Arkansas Supreme Court by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Pulaski Chancellor Murray O. Reed invalidated three of the 1958 special legislative acts, 12, 14 and 16 last May.

A fourth, Act 13, was upheld by the chancellor.

Last Dec. 27, the state filed briefs with the Arkansas Supreme Court seeking to have Reed's ruling thrown out.

Bruce Bennett, the then attorney general, asked U.S. District Court to stay proceedings of an NAACP suit in the federal court until the state Supreme Court could investigate the acts.

The request was granted and the NAACP filed a suit against the acts in Pulaski court seeking a declaratory judgment on their constitutionality.

Last May, Reed voided three of the acts but upheld the fourth.

The state appealed this decision.

Spriggs Found Not Guilty of Murder

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Dale Spriggs, a Texarkana garage operator was found innocent Wednesday of the Aug. 11 slaying of John Thompson by a jury of 10 men and two women which deliberated five hours.

The 40-year-old Thompson was found slain in Spriggs' garage.

Spriggs testified during the three-day trial that he had feared Thompson during the seven years he had known him.

Witnesses testified that Thompson, who had a 23-year prison record and had been released from a Texas prison, only months before the slaying, was a violent man.

According to testimony, Thompson had demanded $1,500 from Spriggs, and was killed when he came to the garage for the money.

Spriggs, said Thompson had threatened him with death if he did not produce the money.

When the verdict was read, Spriggs, the father of 11 children, leaped to his feet and hugged his wife. He then shook hands with the jurors.

and the NAACP filed cross appeal seeking invalidation of Act 13.

Act 12 required any organization deemed to be "interfering" with the operation of public schools" to file membership lists with the county judge.

Act 13 authorizes the attorney general to secure a court order to search the records of any organization suspected of evading state taxes.

Act 14 defined battery as the persistent incitement of litigation.

Act 16 made it illegal to promise or give anything of value as an inducement to file a lawsuit.

For a gourmet treat serve—

Farina Gnocchi With Spanish Sauce

Farina Gnocchi with Spanish Sauce reflects America's growing interest in gourmet foods with international character. This delicate gnocchi is made with Farina cheese for a different flavor. The Spanish sauce complements rather than overwhelms the gnocchi. This entree is ideal for entertaining because it can be made ahead and heated just before serving. The ingredient use of breakfast cereals makes contributions of protein, B vitamins, and minerals.

Farina Gnocchi With Spanish Sauce

3 cups milk
½ cup butter or margarine
1 teaspoon salt

¾ cup farina, plain or malt flavored, uncooked
2 eggs, beaten slightly
2 cups shredded Parmesan cheese

Combine first 3 ingredients in saucepan. Scald—do not boil! Add farina in a fine stream, stirring constantly during addition. Cook, stirring, until thickened. Beat in eggs and ½ of cheese. Press into greased square pan, 9 x 9 x 2 inches. Chill until firm. Cut when firm into slices ½ inch thick. Overlap slices in greased shallow baking dish, 11½ x 7½ x 1½ inches. Dot with remaining butter or margarine and sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in hot oven (425°F.) until hot and brown, about 25 minutes. Serve with Spanish sauce. Yield: 6 servings.

Spanish Sauce

3 tablespoons fat
½ cup chopped onion
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup diced celery

1 1-pound 13-ounce can (¾ cups) or (¾ cups) tomatoes, undrained
½ to 1 teaspoon salt
Pepper as desired

Melt fat, add onion, green pepper, and celery. Cook slowly until onion browns. Add remaining ingredients and cook slowly until thickened. Yield: About 2 cups.

Came Late by 100 Years at Wrong Place

WASHINGTON (AP)—It comes 100 years late and to the wrong place but a letter has just reached here protesting Gen. Robert E. Lee's plan for a frontal assault on the federal position at Gettysburg.

It bears the signature "General G. E. Pickett."

The letter, mailed from Fayetteville, Ark., Jan. 13, was addressed to the "Honorable Jeff Davis, care of the Congress of the C.S.A., Richmond, Va."

The envelope bore the return address of "Staff Headquarters, Gettysburg, Pa."

This is the letter, which is dated Jan. 28, 1863:

"Most esteemed sir, president of the Confederate States of America: it is my most humble opinion that the proposed charge upon the federal position on Cemetery Ridge is an act of deplorable strategy, and in my estimation a flanking movement will carry the day. I anxiously await your official decision on this matter of most importance. Your obedient servant, General G. E. Pickett."

The letter first went to Richmond where some postal worker seriously stamped it "insufficient address" and "no such street number."

Then, apparently, it went to New York where someone crossed out "C.S.A., Richmond, Va.," and wrote in "U.S.A., Washington, D.C."

Once here it went to the office of Rep. James Trimble, D-Ark. His district includes Fayetteville.

Trimble's aides—who pointed out that on June 28, 1863, Lee, and for that matter, Pickett, didn't yet know the battle of Gettysburg was shaping up or that he was going to send Pickett's brigade charging up Cemetery Ridge—

noted that Fayetteville is the local of the University of Arkansas where fertile young brains are at work.

The letter, believe it or not, that was nothing but a replica or that was nothing but a replica or reproduction of a 5-cent Confederate stamp bearing the picture of Jefferson Davis.

K, Kennedy Considerate as of Now

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—There are times, and this is one of them, when President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev look very considerate of each other.

They're like two heavyweights determined to go the distance but so full of respect for each other's Sunday punch they feel things are tough enough without getting personal about it.

About this time last year, when Kennedy was new in his job and up to his neck in problems with Congress, Khrushchev caused him practically no trouble at all. At least, no extra trouble.

This changed later, about the time Kennedy was finishing up with Congress. Khrushchev suddenly began building a crisis on Berlin He began talking tough. So did Kennedy. This lasted all summer.

Khrushchev climaxed his temporary unpleasantness by building a wall around East Berlin and abruptly cutting off talks on banning nuclear tests in order to start Soviet nuclear tests.

All through this period Kennedy and Khrushchev batted the ball back and forth. It was a tense and unhappy period for everybody including them. It turned out to be their climax for the year with each other.

Came mid-autumn and there was a change in Khrushchev. It was his turn to get up to his neck in problems with a congress, in his case the Communist party congress. He said a settlement on Berlin could wait.

He denounced Stalin and his tactics and, in so doing, rammed heads with the old Stalinists and so irked the Red Chinese that they quit the congress meeting. To the hard-nosed Chinese, Khrushchev was too soft.

He wasn't being completely soft, of course. It was in this period that he set off Russia's super-bomb and put the heat on Finland to soften her up and perhaps, through Finland, all Scandinavia.

But at least he had pulled back a bit from the Berlin furnace, like a man who figured he had made some progress and didn't want to push his luck.

Meanwhile, communism and the West were still locking horns around the world: In Berlin, Laos, South Viet Nam, the United Nations, Latin America.

That was par for the course and had been for years. It was just the Kennedy-Khrushchev relationship which had become more gentlemanly.

Gradually Khrushchev, as his differences with the Red Chinese deepened into what the West hoped would be a fervent split,

Argentina to Break With Cuba Soon

By NAOM ABRAMOVICH
BUENOS AIRES, Argentina

(AP)—Argentina will break relations with Cuban's Communist regime later this week, a Foreign Ministry spokesman said Tuesday night.

The report, which the spokesman said was unofficial, coincided with a boycott by Argentina's three service secretaries and 24 top military officers of a banquet President Arturo Frondizi gave for visiting ex-King Leopold of Belgium.

Instead, the military leaders held a meeting reportedly to discuss the government's attitude to their demands that Argentina's foreign policy be swung to the right. Military sources said the military leaders intend to boycott all such functions until Argentina breaks with Fidel Castro's regime.

The military began pressuring Frondizi for a break with Cuba after Argentina and five other nations at the inter-American conference last week abstained on a resolution ordering expulsion of the Cuban government from the Organization of American States.

In an effort to appease the military, Frondizi recalled the Argentine ambassador to Havana but reportedly favored a gradual approach to a full break with Castro.

Claims Dip Some

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Continuing unemployment benefit claims dipped slightly last week to 29,919 compared to 30,413 the previous week, the state Employment Security Division reported Tuesday. The total was 2,594 fewer than the corresponding week in 1961. New claims last week totaled 12,486 compared to 12,526 for the same week last year.

Senators Ask Identity of Censors

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senators investigating censorship of military officers' speeches sought today to crack through Pentagon refusal to reveal who had censored specific speech texts.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., called his special investigating subcommittee to a closed-door meeting for another stab at deciding on a next step in the simmering row.

Sen. Strom Thurmond, D-S.C., whose denunciations of the censoring precipitated the inquiry, called it time for a showdown with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

Sen. E. L. Bartlett, D-Alaska, suggested the censors should be allowed to tell the whole story for their own protection, declaring any other solution might subject them to unjustified criticism.

McNamara went before the subcommittee Tuesday and declared in a closed-door meeting that he had no intention of budging from his own refusal to reveal who censored what speeches, or of withdrawing his orders forbidding his censors to do so.

McNamara has declared repeatedly he was not trying to hide anything and had nothing to hide. But, he argued, in censoring speech texts his men had merely obeyed orders and policy directives for which he would take responsibility.

To subject them to quizzing about it would undermine morale and be unfair to them he contended.

Crew Blamed in Crash That Killed 77

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The president of Imperial Airlines and a pilot who survived a 77-death crash branded as untrue or conjectural some of the Civil Aeronautics Board's findings on the disaster.

Just Another Situation TV Comedy

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—The typical American family, if Tuesday night's CBS comedy special is to be believed, consists of quarreling husbands and wives of all ages, groups, daddies who are cooking, hooligans and faint at the sight of blood, dissatisfied wives and fresh kids.

But just in fun, because "Henry Fonda and the Family" was just a perpetuation of TV's good old situation comedy myths.

Fonda served as announcer of statistics—the average American eats four pounds of peanuts a year, the average housewife will carry home 9,000 pounds of potatoes in a lifetime, the nation consumes $93 million worth of tranquilizers a year—and the rest was a series of those familiar sketches in the pattern established some ago by radio's Bickersons.

There were some nice moments, however—Dick Van Dyke playing a TV set and Cara Williams a bored suburban wife.

But the most imaginative parts were the commercials, dedicated to national children's dental health week and to dentists.

In one, a happy little boy confessed he'd rather tend to his teeth than go to the movies. Oh, sure.

People who search out the TV trends overlooked one, probably because they are so busy contemplating the success of the doctor-series. But the program-developers at ABC obviously have had their sharp eyes on the high ratings of NBC's "Hazel," the Shirley Booth series about an indomitable maid.

Next season ABC will have a comedy series—get this switch—about a butler. It's "Our Man Higgins," and will star Stanley Holloway, the English comedian who made such an American hit playing cockney Alfred Doolittle in the Lerner-Lowe Broadway hit, "My Fair Lady."

If the butler is a hit along with Hazel, there will be a whole new area ripe for exploration: comedy series about cleaning women, baby-sitters, plumbers and meter readers. My candidate for the star of the cleaning-woman series is Sophie, who is already the heroine of that series of commercials for a cleaning powder.

Cancer Cases at 10 Year High

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Health Department said today the number of cancer cases reported during 1961 established a 10-year high. The department said 1,339 cases of cancer were reported in 1961. This is about 200 more cases per year than has been reported for the past three years.

Only 23 polio cases were reported in the state last year. The disease caused one death. There were 36 cases reported in 1960. In 1959 there were 309 cases reported in the state.

The department said 1,008 cases of hepatitis were reported, contrasting with 263 cases in 1960.

Twins are estimated to occur only once in 10,000 births in thoroughbred horse breeding.

Space Try Set for February 14

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP)—The attempt to launch astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. into orbit around the earth has been delayed at least another day, until Feb. 14, to allow more time to get his Atlas booster rocket ready.

No further problem developed in the big booster, but officials decided to take an extra day to prepare the Atlas for the new attempt. This included a full scale fueling test for the vehicle Tuesday.

Baby Time Again in Science

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The growing safety of a baby's life: the question of whether human birth is only a half-way point to readiness for life; and a study of blood for 75,000 mothers are subjects for focus on health.

It's a Baby, Again. For the anxious, prospective mother and father, the birth of a first child is probably the most important, exciting milestone in life.

They might calm themselves with this: Since man first appeared on the earth some 600,000 years or more ago, some 77 billion babies have been born.

"Until recently, at least a half of all babies born died before reaching maturity," says the Population Reference Bureau.

Now, the bureau points out, 95 out of every 100 babies born in Western, industrial society live to become adults.

Too Little, Too Soon. For some scientists, the idea that the gestation period for man is 267 days is only half the story. Dr. Ashley Montagu, Princeton University anthropologist, says the human baby is ushered into the world before he is really ready for it. In fact, birth may be the halfway point.

While it takes the infant some 267 days to develop in the womb, it's about 267 days after birth before the child learns to crawl. Montagu feels that the human infant has to be born when he is, or he would not be able to be born at all. The infant's brain needs only increase slightly to make passage through the birth canal impossible.

In fact the baby's growth rate is such that it just can't continue inside the womb. It must continue outside.

"This natural progression, Montagu says, is reflected in the mother, too. At birth, the mother needs to care and support her child. Her whole body is ready to minister to the infant's needs.

Yet mother and child are isolated from each other in many modern hospitals, just when they need each other most.

Secrets in Blood. Are there secret viruses in an expectant mother's blood that cause mental retardation or some other brain or nerve disorder in her yet unborn child?

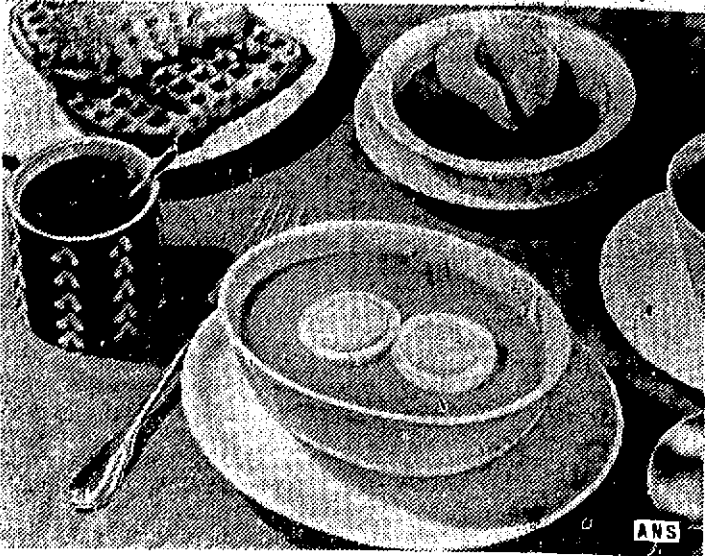

To find the answer, scientists at the National Institutes of Health have begun a study to sample the blood of more than 75,000 expectant mothers. The study will cover 15 medical centers across the United States. Pregnant women and their babies will be studied. It will last some 10 years.

What to Eat With Soup for Breakfast

TODAY ACROSS AMERICA, youngsters and oldsters are spooning and sipping soup to help awaken sleepy appetites. Chowders, broths, or vegetable-meat soups can be delightful, warming stimulants, easily prepared from the can in four quick minutes. Soup starts the day in merry style. The favorable liquid has a comforting way of creating a cheerful outlook—of helping to make the opening hours of a day a time for conversation. Best of all, it is food of complementary nature, and the perfect team-mate with established breakfast foods. So, let's consider the question so frequently asked: "What do you eat with soup for breakfast?"

Canned Pears with Prunes
Creamy Tomato Soup with Egg Slices
Waffled French Toast

Grapefruit Sections
Cream of Chicken Soup with Cereal Bits

Chinese Party Casserole

There is guest appeal in this Chinese buffet supper table. Appropriate decorations provided by chopsticks and delicate white china arranged on a cherry colored tablecloth create a handsome setting for Oriental Lobster Mornay—the featured dish. Bean sprouts, water chestnuts and chow mein noodles combine with lobster and Swiss cheese to make an exotic American-Chinese casserole which is largely prepared from canned foods. As the Chinese would say, it's "Ho See,"—a good thing.

School Bill's Fate Appears Uncertain

By JOE HALL

WASHINGTON (AP)—An uncertain fate in a Senate-House conference committee awaits President Kennedy's college education bill. The Senate late Tuesday passed 69 to 17 the $2,674,000-measure containing in full Kennedy's requests for student scholarships and classroom construction funds.

The vote came a few hours after the President sent to Capitol his education message asking for the funds for higher education institutions as well as a broad range of other aids.

Some members of Congress believe that the college bill is the only one likely to become law this year.

The key Senate question was if administration lieutenants could hold the scholarship section in the bill. They did so by a 50-37 margin after a determined fight.

Forty-five Democrats and five Republicans joined to defeat the amendment of Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio, to knock out the scholarships. It was supported by 26 Republicans and 11 Democrats.

The House version of the legislation, however, contains only the $1.5 billion asked by the President for classroom construction. Democratic leaders in that branch dropped any effort to insert scholarships in the face of heavy opposition.

Some of the likely House conferees on the bill personally have favored federal scholarships in the past but have said they will be bound by the majority House position.

However, members of the Senate delegation said they would do everything possible to save the principle of scholarships in the

Marine Commander Defends Action

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gen. David M. Shoup, Marine Corps commandant, has protested to senators investigating Pentagon censorship that Marines have been subjected to high-handed questioning by persons "on the fringe" of the inquiry.

Shoup was described as contending that the quizzing was designed to discredit his program for indoctrinating Marines on cold war issues, to strengthen their will to fight if war should come. He defended the program vigorously as a witness in the censorship probe.

Sen. John Stennis, D-Miss., heading the investigation subcommittee, told reporters he was asked for a report on the incident but declined to discuss it further.

Justice Asks Renomination

final version. As it passed the Senate, the bill contains:

$1.5 billion in loan funds for construction of classrooms, laboratories and libraries at public and private colleges. This might produce 40,000 new classrooms or other units.

$924 million in four-year scholarships for 212,500 students to be selected by state commissions on the basis of competitions. The maximum amount would be $1,000 a year; the student could attend any college and study the course he chose.

$250 million in matching grant funds to help in construction of public community junior colleges. Each of these programs would run for five years.

Few people know 3 1/4 square miles of the city of Paris is propped up on stilts. For nearly 1,000 years, gypsum was mined beneath the town. Before the French Revolution an entire house—with 7 people in it—collapsed into the underground caves.

In some parts of the world, a new home is only worth the paper it's built on. Natives along the Mpologoma River in Africa stamp sturdy sheets of papyrus into a broad raft...live in gross huts built on their paper property!

Technical Books Now in Demand

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Weekend writers among the nation's 500,000 scientists and engineers are making a good thing out of Americans' growing appetite for technical books.

Publishers are printing some 2,000 new technical and scientific books each year. Textbooks aren't included in this.

If the book sells at least 10,000 copies within five years, the goal of all publishers, and bears a price tag of $10 or more—and some sell for more than $25—the author stands to collect between $12,000 and $15,000.

But very few technical authors write a second book. One publisher estimates repeaters at one in 100.

"It's hard work," he says, "and anyway, most people can't learn enough in a lifetime to fill up more than one comprehensive book."

Partly because of low repeat and partly because the demand for the books is so good, another major technical publishing house has 30 scouts looking for qualified persons willing to invest the time and energy of putting down on paper in their off-job hours what they have learned as an engineer or scientist.

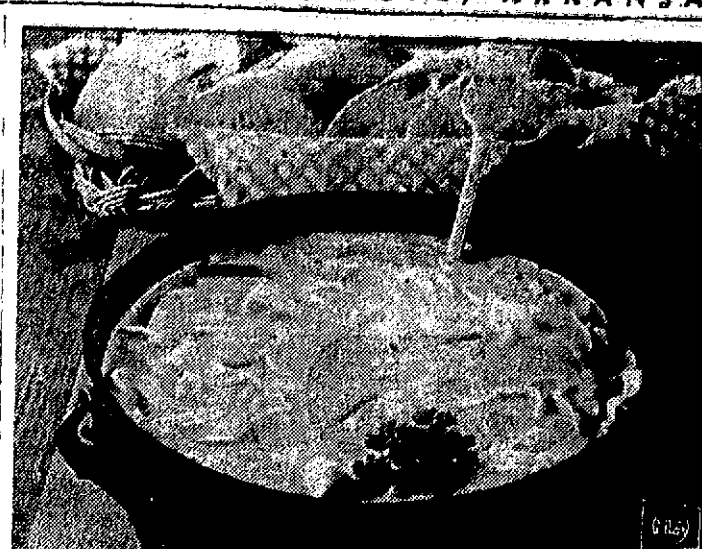

The technical book market is expected to be around $20 million this year. This is only a small part of the billion dollars Americans spend annually for books of all kinds, including textbooks and paperbacks. But publishers find their technical book business is growing and lucrative.

In the last five years sales of technical and scientific books have risen nearly 40 per cent. Out of the 18,000 new book titles issued by U.S. publishers last year, technical books—including new editions of earlier volumes—came to 2,275, or 13 per cent of the total.

Space research is the hottest topic currently. A few years ago electronics dominated the field. In mid-1957 Carsie Adams of Atlanta, Ga., offered a manuscript on space flight which publishers termed unbelievable. Then Sputnik I reversed editorial thinking fast. The Adams manuscript, once forlorn, was snapped up. It has sold nearly 20,000 copies. In the field of technical books, that's a red-hot best seller.

For centuries a portion of the east coast of the Federation of Malaya was called the Beach of the Fire Ants. An enterprising Malay developed it into an amusement center and changed the name to Beach of Passionate Love.

NOODLES and tuna give this hearty chowder top food value and flavor. Serve it with plenty of crusty bread.

SPANISH winter salad is zesty blend of oranges, onions and sweet red pepper. Good eating in any kind of season.

Markets Spring on Specials

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Signs of the eventual arrival of spring are showing up in Southern supermarkets.

Supplies of fresh Florida strawberries are building up in South-eastern groceries.

In the Southwest, shoppers can find watermelon and cantaloup from Mexico and limes and strawberries from California.

At meat counters, the popular springtime fare, smoked hams, are a best buy in almost all regions of the country.

In addition to hams, pork loins are budget attractions in most of the nation's markets while chops, spare ribs, and bacon are also lower in the Southeast.

Best beef buys once again are roasts—Rib, chuck and round—but in the Northeast and Midwest, they are joined for a change by steaks.

Turkeys continued to lead the poultry parade, but the real bargain prices of the last several weeks are getting harder to find. Egg prices are lower in many markets.

Among vegetables, potatoes are cheaper in most markets. Also plentiful almost everywhere are tomatoes, carrots, sweet potatoes, cabbages, celery and lettuce.

The best buys among fruits include oranges, grapefruit, lemons, apples and bananas.

Rejects Workmen's Compensation Hike

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Insurance Commissioner Harvey Combs rejected today a request for an eight per cent increase in workmen's compensation insurance rates.

Combs said the request was made by the National Council on Compensation Insurance.

River Association Names Officers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — William E. Kemp, former mayor of Kansas City has been elected president of the Mississippi Valley Association.

A resolution assailing President Kennedy's proposal that a two-cent-per-gallon tax be levied on fuel used by inland water carriers was adopted at the final session.

The organization said such legislation would constitute a toll or use charge on the inland waterways. It claims this would violate the Northwest Ordinance of 1787.

The resolution, adopted unanimously, stated such tolls would mean "major reduction, if not the virtual extinction of waterway commerce."

The organization, which has held its annual meetings in St. Louis for many years, voted to transfer the convention to New Orleans in 1964. Next year's meeting again will be held in St. Louis.

During the convention, the association took stands against ownership of barge lines by railroads and creation of federal agencies with power over water matters.

The platform also stated water pollution is the responsibility of the states concerned and not a federal matter.

Injuries Fatal

MEMPHIS (AP) — A sailor who was injured in an auto wreck near West Memphis, Ark., on Jan. 28 died in a Memphis hospital Monday. He was Seaman Jerry Ray House, 22, of the Memphis Naval Base. He was hurt when the car in which he was riding hit a concrete pillar under an overpass. The driver, Rosemond C. Davis, 20, of Marked Tree, was killed in the wreck.

Fairbanks, second largest city in Alaska, has 10,000 inhabitants within the city limits and 38,000 in its environs.

A Dish to Delight

HAM ROLLS FILLED with quick-frozen whole green beans—those aristocrats of frozen vegetables... make a delicious and easy-to-fix luncheon or dinner dish. Cheese sauce gives added protein and slivered almonds a crisp touch of elegance.

HAM AND GREEN BEAN ROLL-UPS
1 package (9 ounces) quick-frozen whole green beans, cooked and drained
6 thin slices pre-cooked ham
2 tablespoons (about) prepared mustard
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
1 1/2 cups milk
1/4 cup grated Cheddar cheese
Slivered almonds (optional)

Divide whole green beans into 6 portions. Spread each slice of ham lightly with mustard; roll up a portion of the beans in each ham slice. Arrange rolls in a shallow 6x10-inch baking dish. Meanwhile, melt butter in a saucepan. Add flour and seasonings and blend. Add milk; cook over low heat until thickened and smooth, stirring constantly. Add grated cheese, stirring until blended. Pour over ham rolls and sprinkle with almonds, if desired. Bake in a moderate oven (375° F.) until hot and bubbly. If desired, brown lightly under broiler. Makes 3 servings.

Facts of Life Around Arkansas

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

In Fayetteville assistant city inspector James Wilson found construction further along than he thought the other day when he looked in on a motel project.

Wilson stepped through what appeared to be an opening in the wall for a large plate glass window.

It was. Only the glass had been installed.

Wilson was treated for a severe cut on the leg and facial cuts.

In Little Rock the Rev. T. M. Carroll reports a simple slip of the tongue caused momentary mental havoc at a meeting of the Greater Little Rock Ministerial Association.

Carroll said members were shocked to hear that Rev. Walter Hill had moved from the city Jan. 1 and left the association "without a treasury."

A hasty check revealed the treasury was okay. Just the treasurer—Hill—was gone.

Carroll was named to fill the post now the Association has both treasurer and treasury.

When Garland county Civil Defense director, Ed Doulin sent a dozen radio-equipped cars prowling about the county the other night to test a new communications network, he didn't know he'd wind up giving them a real test.

Neither did Little Robin Smith when she went to the grocery store with her baby sister's neighbor. When 8 p.m. came and Robin was missing the baby sitter called police.

Within minutes Doulin had the 12 cars ready to take part in the search, but about the time somebody remembered where Robin was.

Anyway, Doulin said, he knows now that the network really works.

It was a hectic night last week in Wynne. A sheriff's deputy tried to arrest the police chief, the whole town force was alerted to a "stolen" police car, a state trooper was roused from bed to set up a roadblock—all over a school that hadn't been broken into after all.

Its a pretty complicated story, but basically, it went like this:

A patrolman spied what he thought was a broken safe at the high school. When he radioed headquarters for help, the police chief heard the message and drove to the school in his private car.

A deputy also came up and when an unknown car sped off from the dark, gave chase. The police chief, without telling the patrolman, took the city police car, which is faster, and gave chase too.

The patrolman radioed headquarters his patrol car had been "stolen." The deputy abandoned his chase and took after the city car. When he overtook it and found it was the chief, they both went back to the school, where the safe was found intact.

Meanwhile headquarters had roused a state trooper and set up roadblocks.

To cap it all off, the radio at headquarters quit and after the safe matter was cleared, there was no way to call off the roadblocks.

The whole game of cops and robbers proved one thing, though. Within three minutes after the first alarm, every officer in the county was on duty.

Must Abide by Law

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Any governmental agency, including municipalities, must stay within legal restrictions in investing public funds, the attorney general's office said Tuesday.

The ruling went to city attorney Hugh W. Trantham of Piggott. Asst. Atty. Gen. Sam H. Boyce, who returned the opinion, said the state constitution prohibits investing public funds in private enterprises.

"If the United Nations, even in its present imperfect form, were ever subordinated from the arsenal of our diplomacy, I think many times its cost in dollars would then have to be added to our defense arsenal," Stevenson testified. "Nor do I care to contemplate the possible loss of life in avoidable conflict."

Old Interview Is Discovered

SEARCY, Ark. (AP) — Sheriff Jack Price said today that a 1958 taped interview with former Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia had been picked up during a burglary investigation here.

Price said the tape and other contents of a brief case, which for a time had officers mildly puzzled, turned out to have no connection with the burglary or any others.

Deputies found the brief case at the home of one of three young men who had been arrested for a $140 burglary at nearby Bald Knob.

The youth said a former radio announcer had left it at his parents' home when the family lived in California and had not returned for it.

One tape was an interview with Underwood on July 15, 1958.

Only one tape concerned Underwood. The others were of music.

Steel Union Gets Dope on Contracts

By BOB VOELKER

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Proposals for a 1962 steel industry contract were laid before the Wage Policy Committee of the United Steelworkers Union today for final review and approval.

It was expected the 170-member rank-and-file committee would approve the proposals with little or no trouble.

USW President David J. McDonald received a standing ovation as he pushed his way through the crowded conference room in a downtown hotel before the start of the meeting.

He made no statement to newsmen.

The proposals were drawn in conferences of the union's 34-man executive board Monday and Tuesday.

Cissell to Pass Up Another Year

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Mickey Cissell, the University of Arkansas' outstanding placement kick specialist, has decided to pass up his final year of football eligibility to graduate this summer, it was announced today.

Cissell could have played again next season had he returned to school then.

Cissell, from Wilson, Ark., kicked 42 extra points out of 46 tries and booted five field goals in the past two seasons.

In 1960, he finished the season with 27 points without scoring a touchdown—the first Razorback player ever to take top scoring honors without crossing the goal line.

He finally got his touchdown in 1961.

His two year total as a Razorback counted up to 63 points.

$100 Million Not Much, Adlai Says

Judgment Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Interstate Commerce Commission filed suit in U.S. District Court Tuesday seeking a $500 judgment against Missouri Pacific Railroad. The suit contends the railroad used a box car with a broken running board and a tank car with a broken hand brake last Dec. 4 on a run between North Little Rock and Pine Bluff.

Says Private Schools May Have to Go

NEW YORK (AP) — Francis Cardinal Spellman said today that passage of President Kennedy's $5.7-billion federal aid to education bill would bring about the "eventual end" of the Roman Catholic school system.

The administration measure, made public Tuesday, excluded any federal aid to private or church elementary and high schools.

Cardinal Spellman, archbishop of New York, has often voiced disagreement with the administration's stand.

Today's statement was one of his most forceful yet. He made it in addressing a group of 1,500 teaching nuns, brothers and lay teachers.

He said the Catholic hierarchy would continue its fight for what he termed "equal justice" for all the nation's school children.

He said that if the administration

Pleads Guilty in Cage Bribery

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Hacken, 42, pleaded guilty today to two counts of bribing college basketball players to "shave" points.

General Sessions Judge Joseph A. Sarafite set sentencing for March 14 and continued Hacken free in $25,000 bail.

Hacken had been indicted on 17 counts of bribery and one count of conspiracy.

Ass't. Dist. Atty. Peter D. Andreoli consented to the guilty plea to two counts. Hacken could be sentenced to a maximum of 1 to 10 years in prison on each count.

Hacken was accused of bribing nine colleges as his part in a basketball scandal that has involved 21 players at 18 schools.

Hacken, a Manhattan resident, was arrested last March 17 and indicted on May 24.

McClellan's Assistant Slows Up

Arkansans in Washington
By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ralph Matthews, administrative assistant to Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and as popular an Arkansan as there is on Capitol Hill, has been slowed to a walk.

It took the threat of a leg amputation to do it.

Matthews, running to catch a train last fall, suffered a leg injury that developed serious complications. He was threatened for a time with loss of the leg.

That danger now has passed and Matthews is up and around again. But, he vows, he'll never run again for anything.

"And if I'm late for a train it'll just have to pull out without me," said he.

While he may have retired as a sprinter, skeptical co-workers don't expect him to slow down in his work. For despite his efforts to make himself out as the laziest man in Washington, he is in reality one of the hardest working and best informed senatorial aides.

A native of Jonesboro, Ark., Matthews came to Washington in 1943 with McClellan and has been the senator's first and only administrative assistant. In fact, he now is dean of the "AA" corps in the Senate.

Between McClellan and Matthews there exists a great mutual admiration, respect, trust and friendship. Matthews regards McClellan as a great senator, a great man and a great boss. And McClellan regards Matthews as the best AA in the game.

"Ralph was a little green when we first reached Washington but he studied and studied and worked until he's the best in the business," said McClellan. "You can't say anything too nice about Ralph."

Possessed of a dry sense of humor, a self-deprecating manner and a drawl as Arkansas as anything that ever came out of the state, Matthews is a delight in a conversation.

Since he has a vast fund of knowledge stored in his head and contacts as good as anyone in Washington, Matthews is used as a sort of ready-reference library by many newsmen and by secretaries in other Arkansas offices. He always either has the answer or a pretty good idea where to get it.

Frequently consulted by reporters — or some reporters — he will say: "Aw, I don't know anything about that!" and then proceed to give the reporter valuable background information out of his head or from files piled on a window sill back of him.

One thing he will never do, however, is speak for McClellan. "The senator is perfectly capable of speaking for himself," he has said many times.

Likewise, he firmly insists that he not be quoted.

"I'm not here to do the talking," he says.

Matthews has been the senator's campaign manager in all his races starting in 1942 when McClellan first was elected to the Senate. Consequently he has an intimate knowledge of Arkansas politics and its people. And matching that knowledge is a knowledge of the workings of the huge federal government in Washington.

When he first came to Washington, Matthews will tell you, he tramped around the various departments seeking information for the senator and for Arkansas constituents.

But "I'm a lazy man" and he soon decided he could do just as much and save much time by using the telephone.

As administrative assistant, Matthews handles the bulk of the senator's mail, answering much of it to take the load off McClellan. He runs the office and helps constituents with their problems. Name it and he probably does it.

He grew up in Jonesboro, played in and directed a jazz band, sold advertising and tried his hand at newspaper work in Jonesboro. It was in this capacity that he first met McClellan.

With his wife he lives in nearby Virginia and, as a hobby, grows roses and other flowers. He vows that some day he'll retire to Jonesboro and do nothing at all.

Decision by Romney May Come Soon

By A. F. MAHAN

DETROIT (AP)—George Romney's pending decision on whether he'll seek the Republican nomination for governor of Michigan this year—and maybe win himself a shot at the White House in 1964—added interest today to the annual meeting of stockholders of American Motors Corp.

Romney likely was to be asked to vote on a proxy proposal by Korba for cumulative voting. Under Korba's plan each stockholder would have votes equal to 12 times the number of shares he held, and could cast them all for a single candidate for director, if he chose.

Under non-cumulative voting, stockholders cast all their votes (shares) 12 different times, once for each director to be elected. House to sign agreements pled-

Vending machines on the streets of West Berlin are arvels of politeness. To the purchaser of cigarettes, fresh fruit, handkerchiefs and other items, a woman's tape-recorded voice murmurs, "Vielen Dank," or "Many thanks."

Firms Pledge No Discrimination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thirty big defense contractors signed agreements today to eliminate job discrimination and heard President Kennedy hail their action as an important move for progress and the free enterprise system.

BEAUTY—News & Views

By TONI WOODWARD—ANS

THE ICY COLD and bitter winter winds wreak havoc with lady's skin, especially those women who are active outdoors on the ski slopes and skating rinks.

Guard against windburn and chapped face and hands by keeping a small tube of antiseptic First Aid Cream with you. Dab it on forehead, cheeks, nose and chin when you venture forth for winter fun, and your skin will have all the protection it needs.

The multi-purpose cream also is ideal for minor cuts you may suffer when skin tangle or gales slip.
